VOL. II. GLENDALE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CAL., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1907. No. 40.

CITY TRUSTEES.

Regular meeting Wednesday evening. Present: Messrs. Parcher, Campbell, Jennings and Anderson. After the passage of a few small demands on the city treasury, a communication was read from the Pasadena, Verdugo and San Fernando Valley Railroad Company, Adrian King, president, asking what had been done in reference to the application of that company for a franchise. The clerk reported that the report had been withheld at the request of the railroad company's attorney.

A written request was presented from the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company for permission to construct a side track on Glendale avenue from a point near First street to its property in Block 34 (west side of Glendale avenue, south of First street).

The company had already distributed its material at the point referred to, and had been stopped by the street superintendent from doing any work. The application, therefore, elicited some little controversy between the city fathers and the representatives of the railroad company who were present. On motion, the matter was referred to the Committee on Public Works in conjunction with the street superintendent with power to act, and the clerk was instructed to issue a permit to the company to proceed with the work, whenever the committee should authorize him to do so.

Action in regard to the application for a franchise by the Interurban Railway Company over the alley west of Glendale avenue, was deferred until the next meeting at the request of the railroad representatives.

The Salt Lake and San Pedro Company was requested to bring in an amended application for franchise on the northern part of same alley.

A petition signed by S. G. Ruby, J. C. Jennings and B. B. Bryant, requesting the board to take the necessary steps to curb and sidewalk portions of "A," Fifth and "B" streets, was laid over until next meeting.

The matter of dog tax ordinance was referred to the police and sanitary committee with instructions to recommend some one to take the job of dog catcher.

The street superintendent made a report in reference to attempt of Salt Lake Company to lay track on Glendale avenue near First street, without authority, and his action in regard to same was approved.

Application of O. W. Hanson to do street work by private contract was granted. City engineer reported matter of putting curb and sidewalk at First and Mary street by C. F. Parker had been satisfactorily adjusted.

A resolution was adopted and ordered published, to the effect that necessity demands the acquisition of the following municipal improvements:

The acquisition of land and the construction thereon of a City Hall; and

The acquisition of fire apparatus,

At a total cost of $22,000.

Board adjourned.

RECEPTION TO NEWCOMERS.

The head of the weather department tried his best to make the annual reception to the newcomers a failure.

Notwithstanding his efforts, however, there was a good atendance at the skating rink on Tuesday evening, and the performance came off according to program. Outside, dampness and dreariness prevailed, but inside the rink there was cheerfulness and good fellowship among the audience of nearly 300 who were there assembled.

Mr. Edgar Leavitt presided with his accustomed genial fluency, urging everybody to be good to everybody else, and setting the example for the glad handshake. The reception committee did its best to make the newcomers acquainted with the old-timers of from two to twenty years residence; the cold wet punch rendered effectual service and good fellowship prevailed.

The chairman called upon Mr. Wilmot Parcher, who as "Mayor of Glendale," said the proper things properly, and started the talk-fest off in good style.

Miss Edna Wenger sang in a charming manner "Thy Name," and when the audience insisted on an encore, complied by singing "Violets," Miss Ina Whitaker playing the accompaniment.

The Rev. W. F. Stone of the Baptist Church, made avery appropriate brief address, which was followed by a recitation in good style by Miss Evelyn Ryan.

The Rev. C. R. Norton, of the Methodist Church, gave a talk in a jocular vein, and Mr. E. D. Goode, president of the newly organied Board of Trade, spoke in reference to the work to be accomplished by that organization and asked the co-operation of those present to make it a success.

The evening was then given to sociability and good fellowship.

Mr. J. L. Overton (of Missouri) was on deck with the big register for newcomers and old residents, and many of the former availed themselves of the opportunity to put down their names and the state they hailed from. The affair was a great success and the desire was generally expressed that similar love feasts might be held oftener.

The people of our valley should endeavor to become better acquainted with one another, and such an occasion as the reception to newcomers is one of the best ways to achieve this result. Unfortunately, it comes but once a year. We need to have it about once a week.

BOARD OF TRADE.

The newly organized Board of Trade held a meeting at the office of Hurtt and Rogers last Saturday evening, which was well attended. Working committees were appointed and a plan for advertising Glendale approved of. Several new members joined the organization and on the evening of the reception at the rink several other names were added to the list. All citizens of the valley (Greater Glendale) willing to join the organization or subscribe to the special fund for advertising Glendale, are requested to call on the secretary, Mr. Rogers, at office of Hurt & Rogers.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Monrovia is to have a half-million dollar hotel.

Hollywood will call election to vote $100,000 bonds for street improvements.

George Peck, H. E. Huntington and others are to erect another Cliff House on Point Firman, San Pedro.

San Fernando is ahead of us; they held the first annual banquet of the Board of Trade there last week.

Monrovia is to vote on an issue of $85,000 bonds for improvements of its water plant.

The indefinite boundary of Eagle Rock territory is likely to delay the vote on annexation to Los Angeles, as a new ordinance must be published. Annexationists hope to get it to a vote by March 1st.—(Citizen.)

Los Feliz School district bond election for $10,000 bonds failed to carry. Opposition claims too much money. Trustees assert this full amount necessary because of probability of annexation to Los Angeles; in which case no money forthcoming for long time. —(Citizen.)

Huntington Park is agitating the question of a municipal lighting plant, and a bond issue for that purpose of $15,000 or $20,000. At a meeting favoring this action, a resolution was passed unanimously to the effect that the question of annexation to Los Angeles was not even to be considered at this time.—(Signal.)

We are reliably informed that Editor McClure, formerly owner of the Glendale News, but who recently sold out to Riggs and Sherer, now has material on the ground for the establishment of another paper in the above town. He has rented a building down near the electric railway in what might be called the new town, and will issue the paper in a short time. This looks rather strange, Mac; we don't quite understand it. While we don't wish you ill luck, we hardly see the wisdom of another paper in a town of the size of Glendale, or for that matter in one of two or three times its size.—Valley Press, San Fernando.

Editor Hart of the San Francisco Argonaut, gave up the position he has so ably filled since the death of Frank Pixley, because he couldn't get Mr. Roosevelt to behave as he wants him to, and was succeeded by Mr. Alfred Holman. And here is Mr. Holman almost on the verge of seceding from the United States, and threatening that San Francisco will suspend her common school system, rather than submit to a decision of the courts against her wishes on the question of Japanese in the public schools.

He fears the contamination of his (their) children by association with the offspring of the Oriental Yankee. The goodness of the San Francisco children, is evidently the result of environment; we fear the evil results that will ensue when they really come into contact with the rude world outside of the saintly city of the Golden Gate.

The question of the consolidation of all the water rights and interests of Glendale, Tropico and vicinity, is being seriously discussed in certain quarters. In the words of the poet, "'Tis a consumation devoutly to be wished." The interests of all the owners and users of the water of the Verduge Canyon, are practically identical; and the present complexity of the water question, could be simplified very easily now, we believe. The maintenance of so many small companies on the co-operative or any other plan, is an economic waste of time, money and water; commodities that none of us possess a surplus of, and the consolidation cannot come any too soon for the welfare of our city and contiguous territory. No visionary dreams of "Owens River Water," should prevent us from looking seriously into the question of a consolidation of our water interests.

Richard Wagner on Art

Richard Wagner is quoted as expressing his amazement at the fact that an attempt has been made in New York to stop the performance of his opera, "Salome" on the ground of its immorality. He is quoted as saying: "I am amazed at the noise in New York caused by Salome's immorality. I want to know what immorality is, etc." Then he goes on to say: "In art there is never the moral nor the immoral. Such conceptions of art are incompatable with the conception of art ifself and are forcing to it."

Possibly Mr. Wagner's ideas on this subject are very valuable and learned; but to the laity, they appear to lack wisdom, and to be words only. Of course, art is neither moral nor immoral. This sapient remark may truly be made in regard to any other inanimate object upon this mundane sphere. The word "immoral" as applied to a play, will not bear inspection therefore as to its literal accuracy. But everyone understands what is meant by the expression, and Mr. Wagner should have been capable of doing so, then his remark in reference to the subject, might have been of value, for he occupies a high place in the world of music. We have not had the pleasure of witnessing a representation of Mr. Wagner's latest opera, and probably shall not, but from the notices we have read, there seems to be ample room for supposing that the unpleasant story merely alluded to in the scriptures, has been worked out in details, the presentation of which upon the stage, has a tendency to induce immorality among the callow and depraved. For the edification of Mr. Wagner, (who unhappily will never see these lines) we will explain that a club is not an immoral thing in itself, but a club in the hands of a man desirous of knocking down his neighbor, is liable to bring about immoral results.

The Widening Sense of Honor

On this theme a contributor to one of the magazines recently, writes in a spirit of optimism. Is this true, or is it merely the discovery of a condition long existing, made by the writer of the article. Like all subjects of human interest, the impression received depends largely upon the point of view of the judge. The recent disclosures of the prevalence of "graft" in so many of the high places of the business world, and the work of "the man with the muck rake," has a tendency to make us doubt this "widening." In the realm of "high finance" there has been disclosed much that is dishonest, very much that savors of the methods of the "green goods" man and of the highwayman.

The fact has been noticed that a man can preach most eloquenty to his Sunday school class on every seventh day, and hold up his fellow men for "all the traffic will bear" on the other six. This merely proves the fact that many men, perhaps the most of us, have a variable standard of morality; we apply it inflexibly to the acts of our fellows, but stretch it to suit the case when we ourselves are the object of its application. We not only stretch it at times, but manage to even twist it to our purpose. This very human tendancy is occasioned by the substitution of prejudice for judgment, and makes of our judgment a farce; so that it was most natural and proper that the Great Teacher should have said: "Judge not that ye be not judged."

Independence of judgment is not so much the rule as it must be, among a people thoroughly honest. There is too much of that honesty which is practiced because it is popular, because it harmonizes with the surroundings, as tho it was a question of color. The man who loses his hat from the restaurant rack, justifies himself in robbing his neighbor, on the plea that he himself has been robbed. There is a need for a little more of the old Roman spirit which will condemn the wrong act regardless of the nearness of the culprit to ourselves. On the other hand, honesty in the ranks of business men, is as old as the history of trade. Indeed there is not a class in which this virtue is more common; not because it is inherent in the individual, but because it is "business," and a necessary asset in the commercial world. A curious fact in this connection is this: that a person of average honesty, unfamiliar with business methods and traditions, will upon his entrance into business (or political) life, sometimes be guilty of sharp practice not recognized as honorable by his fellows, simply because of his ignorance of business rules and his desire perhaps to hide the fact.

Let us sincerely hope that honor is widening its sphere of influence, and that the spirit of honesty will more and more prevail until it will never be necessary in the business world for a man to be put under bonds to do the thing which is right and refrain from that which is wrong.

Happened on Friday

You have all heard that Friday is an "unlucky" day, and many persons have so firm a belief in the superstition that they would not under any consideration begin any work or start on a journey on that day. Here is a partial list of important historical events that happened on Friday; read it and then make up your mind whether or not the day deserves its "unlucky" reputation: The Mayflower landed; the Bastile was burned; Moscow was burned; Washington was born; America was discovered; Shakespeare was born; Lincoln was assassinated; Queen Victoria was married; the battle of Marengo was fought; Charles I was beheaded; the battle of Waterloo was fought; Julius Cæsar was assassinated; the battle of New Orleans was fought; Joan of Arc was burned at the stake; the Declaration of Independence was signed—all on Friday. Now, what do you think about the day?—Ex.

MY PICTURE.

Mountains like ancient castles stand
Adorned with priceless work of old.
Their pictured walls by master hand
My captured eyes each day behold

Below them, range of gray green hills,
Above them, arch of azure sky,
Adown their slopes of dusky fold
Softly the purple shadows lie.

When gather fleecy clouds at eve,
Crimson and gold, athwart the West,
In amethyst, my castles glow,
Then is my picture at its best.
—Ellen B. Newcomb.

A REVIEW OF OLD PAPERS.

This is a copy of the original, "The New Jersey Journal," published at Elizabethtown, N. J., bearing date of June 16th, 1790. The Society of the Cincinnati had elected George Washington president of the society, and his letter of acceptance is herewith published.

The Congress of the United States was in session and a report of its proceedings follows.

The Hessian fly had been ravaging the grain fields of Sussex. Congress had voted Baron Keuben a pension of $2500 yearly for life. Dr. Franklin contributes a brief paper full of wisdom; one quotation he credits to a Chinese emperor, "I will, if possible, have no idleness in my dominion; for if there be one man idle, some other must suffer cold or hunger."

Major Israel Putnam had just died, aged 73. Two apprentices had run away and a reward of twenty dollars is offered for their arrest.

George Robertson advertises a list of innumerable articles for sale, from broadcloth to old sherry.

A new stage had just started between Bethlehem and New York, fare three specie dollars.

Jonathan Edwards advertises for proposals for printing his book on "Freedom of the Will." Fifty thousand acres of land in Washington county, Pa., is advertised for sale, with all the allurements known to the modern real estate agent—except proximity to railroads.

Altogether, it is a very interesting "back number," and in a future issue we shall review some more of equal or greater interest.

The Salt Lake Company's Premature Action

Thursday morning, in accordance with the action taken by the Board of Trustees the night before, the Committee on Public Works and the Street Superintendent were on the ground at First and Glendale avenue to meet the representative of the Salt Lake company and arrange for the laying of the spur track. Instead of the said representative arriving however, a foreman with half a dozen Mexican laborers arrived on the scene and proceeded to go ahead with the work. This not being in accordance with the ideas entertained by the Glendale officials, the City Marshal was called upon and the whole crew put under arrest. They came up later before Recorder Stanley and (headquarters having been heard from) upon promising to return to Los Angeles at once, were turned loose with a reprimand.

O. E. S. Installation

The annual installation of officers of Glen Eyrie, Chapter No. 237, of the Order of Eastern Star, took place at Masonic Hall, on Friday evening of last week, and was the most interesting event of the kind that has been witnessed in this section.

Being the first installation under the charter, the high state officers of the order were present.

Grand Patron C. J. Wood, of San Francisco, was the installing officer, and Mrs. Lynn, Grand Marshal of the state, assisted. There were also present Mrs. Dudderer, of Covina, Grand Matron; Mrs. Routzahn, Past Grand Matron, and several district deputies and officers of Los Angeles Chapters; thirty-five or forty visitors in all from the latter city.

The officers installed were: Miss Cora Hickman, Worthy Matron; G. U. Moyse, Worthy Patron; Mrs. G. U. Moyse, Associate Matron; Mrs. D. H. Imler, Conductress; Mrs. Florence Malcom, Associate Conductress; Mrs. Mary O. Ryan, Secretary; Mrs. Grace Hobbs, Treasurer; Miss Tessie Stine, Marshal; Miss Freda Borthick, Adah; Mrs. Agnes Albright, Ruth; Mrs. Margaret Campbell, Esther; Mrs. Verna Thompson, Martha; Mrs. Sala Logan, Electa; Mrs. Luella Bullis, Organist; Mr. Reuben Z. Imler, Chaplain; Mrs. Effie Seeley, Warden; Mr. Dan Campbell, Sentinel.

Altogether there were about two hundred guests present, consisting principally of members of the Masonic order and their wives.

A vocal solo by Mrs. Dr. Bryant and a piano solo by Miss Augsberg, were enjoyed by the company. After the installation ceremonies, luncheon was served in the front rooms.

The visiting officials complimented very highly the beautiful work done in marching and countermarching.

Altogether the event was a notable one in O. E. S. circles, and will be remembered pleasantly for a long time by all who were present.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Mark's Guild met with Mrs. Oak, at her home, on Friday of last week. There was a large attendance and the meeting was an unusually interesting one. Deaconess Miller, of Los Angeles, was present and spoke in a manner both interesting and instructive of her work among the Indians of Southern California. Mrs. Miller worked among the La Jolla Indians at Smith Mountain, in San Diego county, for five years, and her talk upon the subject was greatly enjoyed. Speaking of her work along spiritual lines, she said that the Indians hold the sacraments in very high regard, and are very particular in their observance of them; setting, in this respect, an example for their enlightened white brethren. Some of the Indians had undergone the ceremony of baptism at the hands of Cathalic priests, and Mrs. Miller and her co-workers were glad to assure the Indians of its spiritual efficacy if partaken of in sincerity. Miss Wenger sang a song in her most charming manner, Miss Ina Whittaker playing the accompaniment; and Miss Emma Williams gave an instrumental selection which was much enjoyed.

GOOD SHOWING FOR A STARTER.

The Harrison, Jones & Lee Realty Co. report sales for the first week in business amounting to about $8000. This comprises a number of lots for residences, quite a proportion of which will be built upon in the near future.—Adv.

TEST OF AGE IN FOWLS.

A rooster's age is determined by the size of his spurs. If they are long he is "antique." If there is a small button on the ankle where the spurs come later he is a young bird. Ducks are invariably judged by the under lip of the bill. If a dressed duck will sustain its weight by its under bill, "lay it back and try another," for there is no telling how old it is; certainly too old to be real tender. But if the bill snaps easily it is a young bird. Gobblers are told by their spurs, the same as roosters, the age of the hen turkey being determined by the length of its beard. Aside from the test applied to ducks there is one infallible rule which can be applied with safety in all cases. The back part of the breastbone can be bent easily in a young fowl. If it is sharp and hard and refuses to yield to pressure from your thumb it is an old bird.

Correction

In reference to the Board of Trade in our last issue, we stated inadvertently that "weekly" dues would be fifty cents. It should have been fifty cents "monthly."

Business Locals

I met him first a year ago,
And sprightly was his style,
The light of hope was in his eye,
And sunny was his smile.
His store was stocked with brand new goods,
And all was spick and span;
In fact he had the outward form
Of a successful man.

I said to him: "The signs are right,
And seem to promise well,
The only question seems to be,
Will all these good goods sell.
Of course you know that in this age
Man must with man compete,
You've got to advertise or else
You go down to defeat."

I met that man again today,
His countenance was long,
The light of hope had fled his eye,
And mournful was his song.
"My friend," he said in humble tone,
"I find that I was wrong,
I sang most sweetly, but the world
Paid no heed to my song."

But now alas too late,
This truth is in upon me borne,
This the decree of fate—
A man may sing his wares all day,
May laud them to the skies,
But he who sells the goods must catch
The wide world's myriad eyes."

FRIENDSHIP.

Practical Suggestions That Women Should Take to Heart.

Never let a question of money arise if you wish to have your friendship live.

Ask consideration, ask mental help, but do everything that is possible. Economize in every way that you can before asking money from your friend.

You will find that if you ask your friends for money, though the money itself may have been given cheerfully, willingly, that something is lost, the joy is not just as it was.

Respect your friend's religion. Your knowledge is not so great that you can say that you alone are right, and if your friend is good and sweet and kind and sympathetic, why should you wish to change the sect of the church she attends?

Consider the weaknesses of your friend. Remember her life's story as you know it, her surroundings and the story of her soul as you read it, and be sympathetic and bear patiently with her as only a real friend can.

Always credit her with doing the best that she can, and if you do not quite understand something give her the benefit of a doubt and think that in the beginning she started with the intention of doing something kindly to you.

Constant consideration is the secret of friendship.—Exchange.

BURBANK.

John Radcliffe is entertaining his brother and wife from Kansas.

George Reeves, an old-time resident of Burbank, visited with friends Sunday.

Mrs. Esther Hoist spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives at San Pedro.

Mrs. Will Ludlow, who has been sick with the rheumatism, is able to be around.

Miss Clara Marshall spent the last of the week at the home of Mrs. W. Rummel.

Miss Helen Escherick of Los Angeles was the guest of Mrs. O. R. Boyd during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ashley of Michigan have been spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Story.

Bobbie Heckman and Clarence Crane of Los Angeles spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Martinlow.

Miss Gussie Bash, who has been spending the week with Mrs. Fred White, has returned to her home at Los Angeles.

Mrs. O. J. Stough, who was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. C. Niles of Mexico, have returned to San Diego, the home of Mrs. Stough.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson of Los Angeles have rented rooms of Mrs. A. Young for a couple of weeks, while Mr. Anderson is working on A. O. Kendall's house.

Mrs. Ed. Fisher entertained with a mushroom luncheon at her home Thursday. Those present were: Mmes. J. A. Swall of Los Angeles, C. H. Newton G. Carr of North Glendale, and C. B. Fisher.

Revival services were begun in the Methodist Church last Sunday morning. About ten have thus far professed conversion. Owing to the disagreeable weather the services have been interrupted, but will continue as soon as the weather permits.

C. F. Greenman, of Burbank, has sold lots 8 and 10 of block 69 to Miss Anita Wells.

The acreage in strawberries west of the railroad is constantly being increased; a number of Tropico berry growers, Griswold, Kopp and others, have transferred their berry growing interests to Burbank.

Burbank farmers seem to be pretty well along with their plowing. The acreage planted to watermelons on the higher ground will probably be less than it was last season, but will be offset by the planting in new fields lower down in the valley. There are some large walnut orchards near the river that yielded well last season and will probably continue to do so, putting Burbank in the list of walnut producing sections. Land well adapted to walnut raising must have a happy combination of soil, moisture and climate, which makes it comparatively scarce and therefore valuable.

OUR LEGISLATURE.

Nathan C. Coghlan, of San Francisco, was the orator chosen to pronounce the eulogy over Representative Walsh, whose sudden death was the cause of sincere sorrow to his colleagues, who attended the funeral in a body. In his every-day capacity as the leader of the San Francisco delegation, Coghlan supports every boodle proposition that comes before the assembly; and their name if not quite legion, is at least suggestive of it. But Coghlan is an eloquent weaver of words, and he wove them together most beautifully upon the sad occasion here alluded to. The principal thing that he said, however, lacked the merit of being true, although the speaker quite possibly may believe it. This was the statement that one of the most poignant of man's said thoughts, in the anticipation of death, is the fear that he may be forgotten!

* * * *

The Sacramento Union has figured out that for the week ending January 19th last the senate drew out of the state treasury the sum of $1839.50 to pay 63 officers and clerks; and having paid out that necessary amount, it proceeded to draw out the additional sum (needlessly) of $4674.50 to pay 161 other employes of various ages, sex, condition and color. The assembly followed suit by drawing down $2376.50 for 81 officers really needed and $7057.50 for 260 superfluities.

Thompson of Los Angeles (Alhambra) scored a short lived victory the other day when by a vote of 39 to 22 he succeeded in getting a resolution passed limiting the compensation for committees on junketing trips to the actual expenses of the members. In this he was supported by Cogswell, Stanton and Leeds of Los Angeles; Transue of Los Angeles opposing it vigorously. Usually committees put in their bill for ten cents mileage each way for their members. This sum for a Los Angeles or San Diego member who wants to visit his home on a vacation, amounts to from $90 to $100 and is a sum worth while for a prudent statesman to be looking after. Notice of reconsideration being given however, the matter came up again the next day and the action was reversed, so that the old rule in regard to compensation for junketers still prevails; and as a result there are two or three committees traveling over the state and the assembly has a bare quorum left to do business with. The vote on this resolution shows who the members are that can be relied upon to attempt reform measures.

Thompson is one of them; hard working, conscientious and reliable. Leeds, considering the closeness of his alliance with the "machine," is standing up with surprising courage for better things than the existing order. Stanton has switched about face with surprising results, and seems even to have reached the parting of the ways with his former close partner, Transue. Cogswell is a new man who is making a good record, but one wonders what trophies of victory he will carry back to Whittier in the way of appropriations for the Reform School. At this distance it appears to us that Mr. Cogswell's independence is a serious menace to any bills that he may wish to have considered with favor.

Edward J. Livernash having, it is claimed, slandered dead Assemblman Burke and some others that are living in the columns of the San Francisco Bulletin, for which he was correspondent, has been denied the privileges of the assembly for the rest of the session. Livernash was formerly a labor union congressman and was always loud mouthed and impossible.

Grove Johnson has introduced a bill against gambling, which, if adopted, would seriously embarass those who bet on horses and other things. It proposes to enable any one who loses money on a bet to recover the same by a suit at law, or to enable the heir or the dependants of such a loser to recover. The bill is gotten up by the Municipal League of Sacramento.

The bill to pay all laborers employed by the state a minimum daily wage of $3, the same bill proposed by our own Senator Savage of this bailiwick, has passed through the assembly committee on labor and capital with favorable report and will probably get to the governor. Pardee killed this bill at the last session and the people can probably depend upon Gillette to do the same.

The anticipated lively contest over the adoption of an anti-Japanese resolution in the senate failed to materialize. The resolution as passed is quite harmless, letting Roosevelt off with unexpected leniency.

MY PA AND I.

My pa, he didn't go down town
  Last evening after tea,
But got a book and settled down
  As comf'y as could be;
I'll tell you I was offul glad
  To have my pa about,
To answer all the things I had
  Been tryin' to find out.

And so I asked him why the world
  Is round instead of square,
And why the piggies' tails are curled
  And why don't fish breathe air?
And why the moon don't hit a star,
  And why the dark is black,
And just how many birds there are
  And will the wind come back?

And why does water stay in well,
  And why do June bugs hum,
And what the roar I hear in shells,
  And when will Christmas come
And why the grass is always green,
  Instead of sometimes blue?
And why a bean will grow a bean,
  And not an apple, too?

And why a horse can't learn to moo,
  And why a cow can't neigh?
And do the fairies live on dew,
  And what makes hair grow grey?
And then my pa got up an', gee!
  The offul words he said!
I hadn't done a thing, but he
  Just sent me off to bed.

EL CAMINO REAL.

We are pleased to observe that promoters of the Camino Real, or "King's Highway," the "Path of the Old Padres," etc., are succeeding in their efforts. Also that it has been decided that Alhambra is "on the map" or old mission route, of El Camino Real.

This interesting path is now quite clearly defined, and a map of it has been accepted by the highway commissioners. The road will run through Los Angeles county from the Ventura line to San Gabriel Mission, a distance of forty-two miles, with variations of not more than a few feet in the entire distance. That is to say, the "relocated" road follows almost exactly the original royal pathway trod by the brown-robed Franciscans as they traveled from mission to mission in the early days of California. The work of tracing this historical highway was accomplished with great care by the Location Committee, for correct work meant the searching of old Spanish and American records, the study of government surveys and maps of old land grants, the interviewing of old residents, and also general relocation time and time again, to make the thing a certainty.

The road that was actually in use between the San Gabriel Mission and the Los Angeles pueblo is in use today and is that well traveled thoroughfare, Mission Road, which will be renamed El Camino Real from the Aliso street bridge to San Gabriel. When completed, El Camino Real, it is said, will be a grand boulevard 100 feet in width along its entire length. Artistic signposts are proposed for each mile along the route, each post surmounted by a Mission bell of cast iron, engraved "El Camino Real," and beneath, a guide board with distances or other information. The Bancroft system of blocking probably will be used, and also the numbering to facilitate rural mail delivery and to enable country residents to be found as quickly as townspeople.—Alhambra Advocate.
